Does a 48v battery system need a 12V converter?

To run a 48v battery system, a 48V to 12V converter is the solution for the time being. But with so many industries leaning toward the benefits of 48V systems, more products will become available. Even with the addition of a 48V to 12V converter, this will still be more efficient than a 12V system.

Are 48V systems scalable?

Scalable: 48V systems, just like 12V systems, are scalable. The smallest size 48V system would consist of four 12V batteries set up in series. Renogy's 100Ah AGM battery will provide this system a usable capacity of 2400 Watt Hours (Volts x Amp Hours = Watt Hours).

Why should you choose a 48V system?

Less Expensive Batteries & Wiring: 48V systems will eliminate the need for expensive batteries as 48V systems have the benefit of increasing power to components without raising the current; thus, minimizing copper, which requires expensive cabling and a loss in transmission through resistance and heat.

How many watts in a 12V & 48V system?

We know that Watts (W) is a product of Amperage (A) and Voltage (V) (i.e., $W = V \times A$), so if we have a 1500W system in 12V and 48V we will observe the following: $1500W / 12V = 125A$: With correct cabling to run 125A, your system is safe.
